Recommendations: Multiple controls need to be implemented to improve Botium Toys' security posture and better protect sensitive information. These include: Least Privilege, separation of duties, disaster recovery plans, an intrusion detection system (IDS), encryption, data backups, and a password management system. Strengthening password policies to meet current complexity requirements is also necessary.

To address compliance gaps, Botium Toys must implement encryption to meet PCI DSS and GDPR requirements, restrict data access through Least Privilege and separation of duties, and properly classify and inventory all assets. These steps will reduce the risk of fines and data breaches while improving the company's overall security posture.
